

This chart gives two different kinds of information. First, in the left-most column it shows the point spread for each letter grade. Thus, if you got between 84 and 90, you are heading toward an A in the course. (We record numerical scores, not letter grades. Our procedure for calculating final grades is explained elsewhere in this website.) Second, the chart shows the number of people who got grades within each grade range. Thus, 29 people got scores in the A range.
