A STUDENT EDITION

Compiled by S. J. Harris

AMHERST, MA
2013

PREFACE

This is not an edition of the poem, per se, but a compilation of various editions published during the last century. My intent is to provide a reasonably trustworthy PDF that can be printed out and written on.

Over the last decade or so, I have encouraged students to translate in a particular way. First, I recommend that one record grammatical information beneath every word using abbreviations. A singular, masculine noun in the nominative case is “N.m.s.nom.” A plural, feminine noun in the dative case is “N.f.pl.dat.” A type 2, strong verb in the preterite singular is “V2.s.pt,” and so forth. Second, I recommend that these notes be written in one color, below the word, and one’s translation in another, above the word. As a model, I sometimes show annotated medieval manuscripts, covered in glosses and notes.

I have tried to keep the text as free of commentary as possible. I did not want to prejudice interpretation. The underlying mark-up for this edition is available if you would like to make changes or reconfigure it to add footnotes or sidenotes. Please feel free to contact me for a copy of the mark-up.
