1. Word Classes

Write down ten sentences that you heard this week. Aim for around 100 words total. Above each word, write its word class, using the Word Classes handout as your guide.

There may be some words that you’re not sure about. When you run into one of these, either put a guess or two, or just leave it as a question mark.

Example:
There may be some words that you are not sure about.

2. Identifying Morphemes

Choose ten English words that each contain more than one morpheme. For each word, identify each morpheme and try give an intuitive description of what the morpheme means.

Aim to cover at least 20 different morphemes. You can reuse morphemes from the examples below, but not the entire words. If you have trouble describing some of the meanings, that’s normal, just give your best approximation.

Examples:

preconceived = pre (already) + conceive + ed (past tense)
unreliable = un (not) + rely + able (has ability)
